In Memoriam

William "Bicycle Bill" Sauter

William "Bicycle Bill" Sauter, a 13-year veteran volunteer with CYS-Project Together, passed away Saturday, May 17, 2002, at the age of 82. He recently experienced a fall in his home, breaking two vertebrae in his neck and was recovering in a rehabilitation facility.

It was but a week before the fall that he had made his usual call to CYS-Project Together to say he had more bikes to be picked up and noted he had some really good ones too. "Bicycle Bill" refurbished used and discarded bicycles to give to Children and Youth Services (CYS) clients, so they would have transportation to school, therapy appointments and work. Over the years, "Bicycle Bill" made transportation a reality and an important childhood experience possible for almost 500 CYS kids. In fact, CYS-Project Together staff designed a bicycle safety program around Bill's efforts that

Volunteers Are Special

Heather Provides Calm Stability

Heather Physioc, a mentor for CYS-Project Together in East Region for over a year, is about to leave for a volunteer teaching mission in Taiwan. However, she has left a lasting impression on a 10-year-old boy, who needs the stability, acceptance and enrichment activities a mentor can provide.

Heather is matched with a 10-year-old boy with Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder, which severely impairs his social and academic conduct. The therapist requested a mentor who would be supportive, patient and who had "lots of energy" for this challenging child. Heather is just what the therapist ordered and much more. She has met the challenges presented by this high energy child with calmness and an optimistic approach.

She has been supportive and consistent, providing the youngster with fun activities and positive reinforcement. He looks forward to his time with Heather, who keeps him busy with trips to the beach, parks, Discovery Science Center, Family Fun Festival and numerous CYS-Project Together outings.

The boy's therapist has been very pleased that Heather has contacted her consistently, providing a helpful adjunct to treatment. She is also pleased with Heather's whole-hearted devotion to the child, which has helped him tremendously. The boy is more settled, has improved attention span and is getting better at following direction. She has been diligent about follow-up calls to the Volunteer Coordinator and has tapped into CYS-Project Together resources and special outings.

Heather has just completed her student teaching and has received her B.A.

degree in early childhood education and psychology from Concordia University, as well as a Lutheran teaching certificate. She is on her way to Europe for a month before starting a year-long volunteer mission in Taiwan, where she will teach English at the Concordia English Academy.

She describes her time as a mentor with CYS-Project Together as a "Great experience! I loved the one-on-one connection which allowed me to build a relationship with the child and have the opportunity to see all of the little steps he took. He is a great kid. I will keep in touch with him by sending him post cards while I am away. I would definitely be a mentor again," says Heather.

We will miss her terribly and hope her travels offer all that she hopes and will deliver her back safely. This is an enormous thank you to Heather for making this young man feel special and important.—Veronica Chavez, Volunteer Coordinator, East Region

There's More Than One Way to Hug a Child...

The staff and clients of Children & Youth Services (CYS) and CYS-Project Together deeply appreciate the wonderful support provided by many local businesses and organizations. Your generosity allows community resources to become an important asset in the therapeutic process for the children we serve. Each month, we extend our thanks and give recognition to our caring donors.

Make It Simple Goes Regional

Make It Simple Workshops will be held in each region in June in order to make it more convenient for mentors to attend ongoing training provided by CYS-Project Together.

Veronica Chavez, East Region Volunteer Coordinator, will present the programs during which she will share activities that mentors may do with children and teenagers that are inexpensive, fun, engaging and non-threatening. Mentors are invited to share the activities, games, crafts and outings that have been successful for them.

Make your reservation now for one of these programs by calling (714) 796-0100.

Open Stuff & Grab Bags For Self-Discovery

Stuff and Grab Bags provide children and teenagers with an adventure in self-discovery kit as well as a place to stash special stuff. They are easy to make, useful for many purposes and fun to fill.

Choosing the materials and the pattern that suits your personality and uses, as well as the physical process of making the bag, is an exercise in learning about yourself. Choosing the items to go in the bag helps you walk through problem-solving steps and provides an excellent workout for the creative imagination.

Choose a Pattern

Choose a pattern or style that best suits your lifestyle, habits and activities. The pattern also dictates the content as well as the ease of access and use. For instance, would a tiny lunch sack-style bag be easier for you to carry than one with a drawstring? Or perhaps a bag attached to a 3-hole notebook insert would be less conspicuous and more convenient. Express your personality by choosing the right fabric for you.

Below are some easy-to-make bags.

Draw String Stuff & Grab Bag

Scrap of 12" X 12" heavy weight fabric—denim or upholstery material are ideal

36" of cord with slick finish in complimentary or matching color

Waxed dental floss

Sewing needle with large eye

Or substitute Crazy Glue for floss and needle

Scissors

Ruler

Safety pin

1. Fold fabric in half lengthwise, so if there is a design, it will go in the right direction.

2. Mark the outline of the bag on the fabric by measuring the piece across, 6" from the fold and 12" top to bottom.

3. Cut out.

4. Make the sleeve for the cord by fashioning a hem at the top of the bag. Fold over $\frac{3}{4}$ " of fabric toward the inside of the bag. Stitch down with floss, using small stitches or secure hem with thin bead of Crazy Glue. Leave ends of sleeve open.

5. With right sides together, leave the top with the cord sleeve open and stitch or glue seam on side and bottom of the bag.

6. Attach safety pin to one end of the cord and work cord through the sleeve from one end to the other, using the safety pin as a guide. Tie ends of cord together.

3-Ring Stuff Bag

1 plastic pencil pouch with zip closure used for 3-ring notebooks

Pieces of upholstery fabric

School glue

Scissors

Ruler

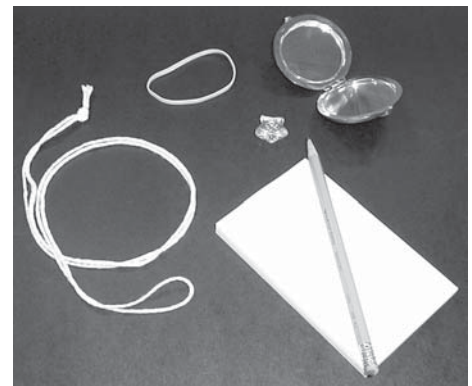

Chalk

Paint brush

1. Trace outline of 3-ring pencil pouch onto fabric using chalk.

2. Cutting $\frac{1}{4}$ " outside line, cut 2 pieces of fabric so they are a little bit larger than the plastic pouch. Trim top piece of fabric so it will fit below the zipper on the front of the pouch, allowing the zipper to move freely after fabric is attached.

3. Fray $\frac{1}{4}$ " edges by pulling threads to make a fringe.

4. Paint glue on to the wrong side of larger piece of fabric and affix to the back of the pencil pouch, making sure it is centered. Allow to dry. You may hasten the process by using a hair dryer.

5. Paint glue onto back of smaller piece of fabric and affix to the front of the case, centering it under the zipper.

Stuff for the Bag

Anything goes here, but some suggestions include:

Sand timer

Sponge ball

Clay or construction dough

Message cards you make yourself

"Turn it over"

"Chill"

"Take a break"

Small paper sack to blow up

Balloons

Small mirror

String

Pen or pencil

Small pieces of paper to write down your problem to stick in the bag.

Happy Birthday

included donations of helmets, safety booklets and bike locks.

The part-time volunteer project, which allowed him to "tinker" while helping someone else, turned into an avocation. As people went by his open garage door at his Balboa Island home, they would see him in his workshop on his knees, spinning the wheels, installing chains and straightening handlebars. Bill inspired neighborhood participation by his example. People came by with old bicycles they purchased at garage sales or would tell him of an abandoned bike on the roadside. They donated parts, tools and even a bicycle repair rack for Bill, who often would become stiff from doing the repairs on the cold concrete garage floor.

Bill retired from five different careers. After he was orphaned at the age of 6 and went to live with his aunt and uncle in Glendale, he opened his own shoeshine business and sold the Saturday Evening Post to help earn his way. He joined the Air Force in 1943 and went to India, where he said he learned a lot about the world. When he retired from the service, Bill and his buddies formed their own aircraft insulation company, Hitco, which supplied all of the insulation for U-2 planes. Since that endeavor, he was involved in sales, and ultimately built a gold-plating company into a $45 million business.

He reminisced from time to time about being raised by relatives, being known as a child as the neighborhood's "Peck's Bad Boy", about his adventures in India and settling down to retire for good on Balboa Island with his wife, Elsa. He donated a great deal to charity over the years, particularly those that help children, but seemed to "settle in" with CYS-Project Together.

"A lot of people helped me along the way. I just thought I would do what I could," he once said about his work with the program.

At the recent CYS-Project Together Volunteer Recognition dinner, Bill was honored with a Distinguished Service Award for his many years of service to the Health Care Agency's Children and Youth Services.

Carole Neustadt, the Health Care Agency Public Information Officer and former CYS-Project Together Supervisor who recruited "Bicycle Bill" for his volunteer position, noted "Bill brought a very special spirit to Project Together and to the lives of many children and their families."

Even though not all CYS staff had the privilege of knowing Bill personally, they knew of the bike program and each month anxiously waited for a new shipment of bikes.

"Bill Sauter made a tremendous impact on CYS and our clients and he will be sorely missed," according to Alan Albright, CYS Division Manager.

For Your Information...

The Orange County Mental Health Board, in observance of May as Mental Health Month, held a public hearing Wednesday, May 29, regarding the stigma of mental health in Orange County. Orange County Mental Health clients, family members, mental health professionals and interested members of the public shared their ideas with the board about how to better deal with issues of reluctance to seek treatment due to stigma and attitudes toward those who have received treatment...

There are summer book-learning volunteer opportunities available for teenagers at the Westminster Branch of the Orange County Public Library, 8180 13th St., Westminster. According to Carlie Kraft, Teen Librarian, teenagers, 6th grade or over, may attend a volunteer orientation at 4 p.m. on the second or fourth Thursday of the month. Teens are asked to volunteer for eight hours per week. They will meet other teens as well as learn some outstanding skills as a result of donating their time to their community. For further information, please call Carlie at (714)893-5057...

Speaking of books and teenagers, only 10 to 15 percent of the libraries in the country have Teen Librarians. The County of Orange has a total of three with two other branches besides Westminster providing reading programs and activities specifically designed for teens. They are the Laguna Niguel Branch, 30341 Crown Valley Parkway, Laguna Niguel, at (949)249-5252; and the San Clemente Branch, 242 Avenida Del Mar, San Clemente, at (949)492-3493. Throughout the summer, the Westminster Branch is offering teen programs at 3 p.m. Thursdays, which will feature a sound and percussion program, learning elementary juggling, story tellers, African folk instrument session, movie night and a Generations Book Club to which teenagers may invite an adult. With the exception of the book club, adults may attend programs with teenagers, but must sit in the back, says Carlie.

Hands, Sands & Wood

Stanley Hall, woodworker, demonstrates how he fashions his projects in wood while his wife, Dorothy, spearheads the artwork component of production. Both will share their expertise with Children & Youth Services clients and their mentors who will be participating in the upcoming CYS-Project Together outing, Hands, Sands and Wood, slated for 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, June 8, at Mile Square Park, Site #1, 16801 Euclid (at Edinger), Fountain Valley. Watch for your flyer in the mail. For reservations and further details, please call Curtis Livingston at Central Office, (714)796-0100.
